To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to write a letter in support of Red Ginger Services and the Baby Think it Over program.

At Newman College we have been associated with the Baby Think it Over program and Christina Self for the past 9 years. As a Home Economics teacher I believe the program gives our Year 10 Child Development students the opportunity to explore some of the demands of parenting. The students partake in the Baby Think it Over program as part of an assessment task investigating the requirements of caring for a newborn and some of the challenges associated with parenting.

I endorse the Baby Think it Over program and the work of the owner, Christina Self. She is professional and enthusiastic and relates well to our students. Programs such as the Baby Think it Over are important tools in increasing young people's awareness of some of the consequences of being sexually active. Such information is essential to them to make educated life decisions.

Sincerely,

Natasha Smith
