

To Whom It May Concern

My name is Alex Wood and I am a Psychology and English teacher at Scotch College. We have been involved in the "Baby Think it Over" program, now delivered by Red Ginger Services, for a number of years. The boys in Year 11 English have found the course invaluable in their development and understanding units "what it means to be a good young man".

The programme is not only a virtual parenting experience, but also covers important sexual health information. It is a unique event in our school community and is something that the students look forward to each year. I believe it is a highly beneficial program, as it allows participants to understand firsthand the demands of becoming a parent at a young age.

We have enjoyed having Christina deliver "Baby Think it Over" in our College, and highly recommend the program to other schools and community groups who are interested in engaging the students in an interactive and interesting way, with the often difficult, but necessary subject matter of sexual health.

Kind Regards

Alex Wood | Psychology and English Teacher | Indigenous Tutor

Scotch College | 76 Shenton Rd, Swanbourne. WA 6010

