To Whom it May Concern,

My name is Angela Robertson and I am the Head of the Home Economics Department at St Mark's Anglican Community School. We have had the Baby Think it Over program, now delivered by Red Ginger Services, in the Year 10 Caring for Others class for the past 8 years.

The program is not only a virtual parenting experience, but also covers important sexual health information. It is a unique event in our school community and is something which the students look forward to each year. I believe it is a highly beneficial program, as it allows participants to understand first hand the demands of becoming a parent at a young age.

We have enjoyed having Christina deliver Baby Think it Over in our school, and highly recommend the program to other schools and community groups who are interested in engaging the students in an interactive and interesting way, with the often difficult, but necessary subject matter of sexual health.

Kind Regards,

Angela Robertson.
